CADDIES STONE GOLFERS.

ONE HUNDRED STRIKE FOR HIGHER PAY, AND, THEIR DEMANDS BEING REFUSED, MAKE TROUBLE.

One hundred caddles employed by the Harbon Hill Golf Club, of New-Brighton, Staten Island, struck yesterday morning, the boys demanding an increase of pay. When the demand was reused they manifested their displeasure by hooting at the players and throwing stones and sticks at them as they made the rounds.

The boys have been accustomed to receiving 30 cents a round, eighteen holes, and they demand 10 cents more. Their chief reason, they say, is because of the long waits before play while the members of the club visit a neighborng hotel for refreshment. During these waits

When he arrived they made their grievances known to him. Captain Hockmeyer agreed to pay the boys something while they were waiting, but this did not suit them. They wanted 40 cents is round. When they saw that they could not get it, their first move was to go to a neighboring tee and hoot at the golfers as they began play. They then spread over the links, and, seizing the direction flags and disks from the holes, ran off with them, with shouts of derision. Sand boxes were broken, and the greens were torn up by hurling heavy stones over the course. Those of the members who engaged in play were boliged to carry their own clubs.

YAQUIS BENT ON WAR.

MANY TROOPS NEEDED TO CHECK THE INSURRECTION.

INDIANS DETERMINED TO RECOVER LOST POSSESSIONS-SAID TO BE FRIENDLY TO AMERICANS-MINERS MURDERED.

Austin, Tex., Aug. 6 .- A dispatch received here to-day from Terrasa, Chihuahua, Mexico, which is located near the scene of the Yaqui uprising, is to the effect that the Indians are arranging for a prolonged war. The dispatch says that the Mexican Government will need a long time and a big force of troops to quell the rebellion. The Yaquis are better prepared now than ever before for a long and bloody campaign. They are well off financially, nearly all of them having saved the $200 a head which the Mexican Government paid to them when they signed the treaty of peace two years ago. They have been making money since then, and it is known that they have been laying in a large supply of arms and ammunition. It has been common talk among the American prospectors in the Yaqui Valley that the Indians were preparing for another outbreak, but as the braves had always shown a friendly spirit toward the Americans, it was thought they would

HISTORY OF THE TRIBE. STRUGGLE OF THE YAQUIS TO MAINTAIN THEIR INDEPENDENCE.

Washington, Aug. 6 (Special) - The Vagut Indians. who have again taken up arms against the Mexfean Government, have maintained their semi-independence by force of arms for a century and a half against the white invaders. They say that they hold the title to the territory they occupy from the King of Spain, from whom they forced it, and they have never recognized Mexican sovereignty. As a nation they are ruled by their own laws, and they make their towns asylums, never surrendering a fugitive to the Mexican authorities. They are naturally a mild and peaceful people, but they are brave and able in war when it cannot be avoided without sacrifice of their principles and their independence. They hate the Mexicans, who, they allege, sold part of their lands lying in the Gadsden Purchase to the United States. They have revolted with more or less success against Spanish and Mexican rule in 1735, 1825, 1832 and 1841, and since 1885 have almost continually retaliated on Mexico

The Yaquis occupy a large district of Sonora, inthe water was steadily creeping up on him, and | cluding the towns of Cocorin, Bacum and Torin, as well as five other towns on the Yaqui River. They are industrious; they make good farm laborers, miners and boatmen, weave cotton, raise large stocks of horses, sheep and cattle, and sell products valued at many thousands of dollars every month at Guaymas. The Yaquis speak in a rough, loud tone, and their name is said to mean "He who shouts." They are believed to number about fifteen thousand, of whom more than five thousand are adult males, most of them armed. In June, 1885, when the Mexican Government was trying to force them to pay taxes, they defeated and slaughtered General Garcia and four hundred soldiers.

The last serious fight which these descendants of the Aztecs had with Mexico was in 1896 and 1897, when a young girl named Teresa Urrea, afterward called Santa Teresa, announced that she had the gift of healing the sick, and offered to lead her people into paradise. She gathered several thousand Yaquis, who made pligrimages to her father's ranch, and started a revolution. The Mexican authorities captured her and took her across the United States frontier to Nogales. Many of the Indians followed her, and, after rescuing her, she led them against the Mexican troops in Chihuahua, where she was captured and her force nearly annihilated. She was again sent over the line to the United States, with warning never to return, but the Indians and some Mexicans soon rallied around her and defeated small Mexican forces at a number of points. St. Teresa's band was finally routed, but she raised another army in the United States, and in August the Yaquis seized the Mexican halif of the town of Nogales, being subsequently driven out by Americans. The "war" continued for a year, until, in June, 1887, betabale, chief of the Yaquis, marched into Guaymas at the head of eight hundred warriors and made a treaty of peace with a commission sent by President Diaz, by whose authority the Yaquis were enrolled in a militia for the State of Sonora, with Jetiabale as commander, with the rank and salary of a Mexican officer. This policy of conciliation now seems to have failed, and the attempt at conquest, which was unsuccessful from the time of Spanish sovereignty, is again to be renewed. a number of points. St. Teresa's band was finally

SURPRISED BY DYNAMITE.

PREMATURE DISCHARGE THROWS A MAN of the house TWENTY YARDS AND BLOWS HIS HAND OFF.

Crescenzio Capone, while celebrating the feast day of an Italian saint in Mount Vernon on Saturday night, was badly injured in a dynamite explosion, which shook the entire western portion of the city. Capone was in a vacant lot in North Fourth-ave., engaged in placing a dynamite cap under a balloon, which he expected would explode high in the air.

By some mistake the dynamite exploded on the ground at his feet, hurling him twenty yards away. He was picked up and taken to the hos-pital, where it was found that his hand had been pital, where it was found that his hand had been blown off and one of his legs was so badly shat-tered that amputation may be necessary. The force of the explosion was so great that the man's fingers were found near the Catholic Church, in North Fifth-ave., more than a block away from the place where he was attempting to inflate the balloon!

FRANK MOSS AT HARLEM Y. M. C. A.

HE DELIVERS AN ADDRESS ON BRAVERY, COUR-AGE AND HEROISM.

Frank Moss, counsel to the Mazet committee, yesterday afternoon addressed a large audience of young men in the Harlem Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, No. 5 West One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth-st.

Mr. Moss did not talk more than ten minutes, and confined himself to a generalization of the virtues bravery, courage and heroism. He said there never was a time when such courage is in demand, and when the opportunity to win fame by genuine ex-amples of it was as great as now. He spoke eulo-gistically of the courage of the soldier and the man who takes great personal risk, but said there man who takes great personal risk, but said there is another species of bravery equally destrable—the bravery that makes a man stand up always for what is right, regardless of the consequences. He said bravery is a physical attribute, and one that makes its possessor willing to risk danger and personal injury. To be brave was to be strong, and it was easy to be brave in trouble and in the presence of sin.

He said a man of strong heart is readily inspired to acts of good, and is less susceptible to sin. A man with a good heart is all right.

Of heroism, he said it is the virtue that makes one willing to do and sacrifice for others. He said these were the ideal virtues, and that men are beginning to realize more and more each day that their possession is necessary to success.

FOUR INJURED AT A FIRE. ABBEY'S OWNERS LIABLE. TORAL AND PAREJA ACQUITTED.

PANIC ATTENDS A TENEMENT HOUSE BLAZE IN SECOND-ST.

ONE WOMAN JUMPS TO THE ROOF OF AN EXTENSION AND IS SEVERELY HURT-

RESCUERS DO GOOD WORK. The following persons were injured at a fire yesterday afternoon which started on the first floor of the five story brick tenement house Nos.

140 and 142 Second-st.: DECLER, Mrs. Victoria, forty years old; overcome by EITAG, Henry, twenty-seven years old, of No. 131 East Third-st; overcome by smoke and burned about the eyes; taken to Bellevue Hospital.

LOEB, Mrs. Kate, thirty-two years old; burned about the back, arms and chest and brulsed by jumping from the third floor to an extension. WITT, Mrs. Sophie; overcome by smoke.

The fire was discovered on the ground floor of the building in a store occupied by H. M. Goodfriend, a tailor. It was first seen by Patrolman Milton Woodbridge, of the Fifth-st. station, who turned in an alarm. Before the tenants in the house were aware that the place was on fire smoke from the first floor had filled the hallways and many of the rooms above, having made its way through the building by means of the dumbwaiter shaft, which is in the middle of the building. Scarcely had the alarm been sent in when the flames made their appearance on the roof.

In a moment the whole house was pante stricken, and a rush was made for the fire escapes on the front of the building and for the roof of an extension in the rear, from which there was easy access to the houses in Avenue A, near which the building is situated. Fortunately for the inmates of the place several of the flats had been temporarily vacated by their tenants, who had left the house to spend the afternoon elsewhere, and the danger of a wholesale loss of life was lessened. The Jaep family, consisting of husband, wife and four children, who occupied rooms on the second floor, left their rooms by the rear windows and the roof extension as soon as the fire was discovered, and a few others escaped by the same method of suspicious destinations. It has been decided

Mrs. Kate Loeb, who was alone in her rooms on the east side of the third floor, was overtaken by the flames, and tried to make her escape through the hallway. She found flight impossible through the hall, and then ran to one of the windows in the rear. People saw her stand as if to jump, and shouted for her to remain, for the firemen were already beginning the work of rescue, but she paid no attention to their warnings and leaped downward toward the ground, landing on a roof of an extension about twenty feet below. She had been burned about the face, head, neck and breast, and was picked up in a partially unconscious condition on the roof, from which she was taken to the restaurant of Edward Klein, at No. 31 Avenue C She was taken to the Gouverneur Hospital in a critical condition from her burns and bruises.

One of the most sensational rescues was that of Mrs. Sophie Witt, forty years old, the wife of Frederick Witt, a barber, who lived on the fourth floor of the building. As soon as Mrs. Witt saw that the house was on fire she made directly for the fire escape at the front of that floor and screamed that she was going to jump. At that moment the flames were dancing all about her and smoke was pouring out of the windows behind her in dense volumes. In the mean time two firemen, Vincent L. Havlina, of Engine Company No. 30, and Henry Lakestream, of Engine Company No. 66, who were passengers on a Second-ave, elevated railway train, had seen the smoke coming from the building, and had left the train at the First-st, station. Witt saw that the house was on fire she made

With a bound they mounted the fire escape ladders and ran upward toward the woman. They reached her just in time, and lifted her over the iron railing of the balcony and carried her bodily down the ladders to the first floor, through which they took her to the extension in the rear and to safety.

Henry Freitag, twenty-seven years old, of No.

Henry Freitag, twenty-seven years old, of No. 131 East Third-st, was one of those citizens who was early at the scene of the fire. He ran up the fire escapes to lend what assistance he could to those in the building. He was himself overcome by smoke while on the third floor balcony. and was burned over the eyes. He was taken down by Detectives Jackson, Burke and Cav-anagh, of the Fifth-st. station, and was carried in a semi-conscious condition to Klein's restau-rant, in Avenue A, from which he was sent to Effective work was done by Edward Klein, Ernest Kammer, of No. 21 First-st.; Albert Kupper, of No. 97 Avenue A, and Charles Bauer, of No. 31 Avenue C, in the rescue of Mrs. Victoria Deckler, forty years old, the wife of Samuel Deckler, who lived on the third floor of the house.

IMPORTANCE OF CASE IN CONTINUANCE OF WAR WITH FILIPINOS-MEANS OF

STOPPING SHIPMENTS OF ARMS.

Washington, Aug. 6 .- John Goodnow, Consul General of the United States at Shanghai, has rendered a decision as referee in the Consular Court which will be of far reaching importance during the continuance of the war in the Philippines. The case was in relation to the steamer Abbey, charged with taking arms from Canton to Luzon. The case has been in contention for some time. The owners of the vessel gave a bond that the ship should land the arms purchased at Singapore, but she did not do so. The bond was demanded by the Chinese customs authorities. Mr. Goodnow holds that it must be paid. The importance of the decision is pointed out by "The Shanghai Mercury," which

"The effect of the decision of Mr. Goodnow reaches much beyond the mere fact of being judgment for the plaintiff with the penalty of the bond and the costs of the suits. Hitherto the American forces at Manila have had to fight against Filipinos well armed with modern rifles and guns, and it is no secret that the majority of these arms have been landed in the Philippines from Chinese ports. When the United States consular officials have received information that cargoes of weapons were about to be shipped from China, their urgent protests to the Chinese authorities have been the means of stopping shipments. But when the United States officials have been ignorant of such contraband runs, the Chinese officials have likewise been blind to these shipments, though no doubt well aware of such.

"It is in this respect that Mr. Goodnow has scored such an important point. On the strength of that judgment the officers of the imperial maritime customs of China must necessarily do all in their power to stop shipments of arms to that China is liable for any shipments of arms which get to the Philippines through lack of dili-gence or honesty on the part of the customs or other Chinese officials. Therefore the judgment in the Drew vs. Sylvester case will be the means of checking the chief source of supply of arms and warlike material that the Filipinos have

'North China Daily News" publishes the decision of Consul General Goodnow in full, and comments editorially upon its importance in the matter of preventing further shipments of arms to the insurgents in the Philippines, and says that it will be far reaching in its effect in stop-ping the sending of arms to the Filipinos.

THE DURAND-RUEL EXPLOSION

EXTENT OF THE DAMAGE NOT YET ASCER-TAINED.

The extent of the damage done to the paintings in the Durand-Ruel art gallery, at No. 385 Fifthave., by the severe explosion on Saturday night could not be learned authoritatively yesterday. George Durand-Ruel is at present in Paris. Mr. Spalding, who is connected with the firm, is in Canada, but has been telegraphed for. Edwin C. Holston, who is the assistant manager of the firm, came into town at 8:30 o'clock last evening from his summer home on Long Island, and hurrled to the art gallery. Here he was met by a number of reporters, who were unable to obtain from him any statement as to the amount of the damage.

The Durand-Ruel firm occupies the basement and the first floor of the building which stands on the northeast corner of Fifth-ave, and Thirty-sixth-st, It is now said that the explosion was caused by the bursting of a copper bolier that was used the bursting of a copper boller that was used to supply the tenants with hot wafer. This boller was in a sub-basement. The busement was wrecked with the exception of a part used as an office by the Western Union Telegraph Company. All the windows of the basement were broken into bits. The plaster of the cellings and walls fell in, and even doors were blown from their hinges. This basement is used by Durand-Ruel as a work room for framing pictures, etc. Whether valuable paintings were in the basement at the time of the explosion could not be ascertained, but if there were any they were certainly demolished.

The first floor is used as a show gallery. From the outside one could see that large pieces of plastering had fallen from the walls there, exposing the laths, but it is thought that the damage will not be very severe.

BODIES OF JOHN BROWN'S MEN.

Grand View Hotel, Lake Placid, N. Y., Aug. 6 (Special).-A coffin containing the bodies of seven of John Brown's followers in his raid upon the arsenal at Harper's Ferry was brought here today and turned over to the town authorities for burial. The bodies were disinterred from their former resting places at Harper's Perry by Dr. Thomas R. Featherstonehaugh and Captain E. P. Hall, of Washington. They were assisted in locating the graves by John Marshall, an old resident of Harper's Ferry, who buried the men. The graves were opened on July 29, and the bodies were sent forward in the coffin which is now in the Town Hall at this place. The remains include the bodies of seven of the ten men killed in the memorable raid of 1859. They were Oliver Brown, Stewart Taylor, William Thompson, W. H. Leeham, Dauphin O. Thompson, Dangerfield Newby and Lewis S. Leary, the two latter being negroes. Oliver Brown was a son and William Thompson a son-in-law of John Brown. These bodies will be buried close to the grave of John Brown on the John Brown farm, near this town. This farm is now State property, having been purchased and given to the State through subscriptions received by the late Kate Field. The funeral arrangements are being made by the Town Council, and invitations have been sent to a number of prominent persons to be present. The coffin was brought here by Professor O. G. Libby, of the University of Wisconsin, whose uncle was a member of John Brown's band and one of the five raiders who escaped. Dr. Samuel Strock, Dr. E. C. McClelland and Charles Stickney, acting for the town authorities, received the bodies and the affidavits as to their authenticity.

A monument will be erected over the graves of these men, giving the names of the men and the circumstances regarding the recovery of the bodies.

BIG CEMENT WORKS BURNED.

LOSS OF A QUARTER OF A MILLION DOLLARS AT GLENS FALLS.

Glens Falls, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Fire, entailing a loss of about $250,000, totally destroyed the works of the Glens Falls Portland Cement Company this after-noon. The buildings, which were of wood, burned like tinder, and it was only one hour from the time the slarm was given until the entire plant was in ruins. The entire fire departments of Glens Falls. Sandy Hill and Fort Edward turned out, but they could not check the flames. The works were could not check the flames. The works were started about five years ago. An addition had just been completed and the concern was regarded as in a prosperous condition. The stockholders are largely from Glens Fails. The loss of the plant is a serious blow to this city, as the company employed several hundred men and for some time past the management had been unable to fill orders. The insurance was $194.250, distributed among various insurance companies.

TO PREACH AGAINST LYNCHERS.

THE REV. DR. BROUGHTON, OF ATLANTA, WILL TELL NORTHERNERS HOW TO REMEDY THE EVIL.

The Rev. Or. L. G. Broughton, a well known Baptist preacher of Atlanta, Ga., who occupied the pulpit of the Hanson Place Baptist Church, in Brooklyn, yesterday, will on Sunday night next preach a sermon that the people of Atlanta have been awaiting for weeks. His subject will be Christian Citizenship and the Race Problem in the South." It is understood that he will handle the subject without gloves. He told a Tribune reporter as much last night.

Dr. Broughton is a North Carolinian by birth, and went to Atlanta several years ago as pastor of one of the old churches there. He and his congregation tore down the old edifice and built a new one in the heart of the city, within reach of the po people. His success was unusual from the start. The thing that brought Mr. Broughton before the public as one of the most courageous ministers of Atlanta was his attack on the lynchers who burned at the stake Elijah Strickland, a Georgia negro. some months ago. Dr. Broughton denounced them in scathing terms. Consequently he was insulted by the hoodlum element in Atlanta, his life was threatened, and a large room in his church was vandalized one night by a mob. He also received a number of letters ordering him to leave Atlanta. When he left Atlanta last week to come North to preach in Northfield, Mass., and Brooklyn, the when he left Atlanta has and Brooklyn, the preach in Northfield, Mass., and Brooklyn, the newspaper reporters waited on him and asked him if he was going to preach on the race problem while away. He told them that he expected to, and his address is prepared.

"I have made this subject a searching study for years," said Dr. Broughton last night at the Hanson Place Baptist Church to the reporters, "and I believe that I've got about the only solution for it. The people of the North will have to help solve the problem, and it will have to be taken up with firmness and broad charity. The order loving people of Atlanta are with me in the stand I have taken, but there are many who will always be ready to denounce me. The trouble is that the reckless element carries a good many of the people who are naturally order loving entirely off their feet, and that is why lynching must be combated vigorously It is going to take a long time to bring about a change with some of our citizens in the South, but it will come out all right in time if we are willing to work and fight for it."

A HARD FAMILY TO HANDLE.

THE LOOS FURNISH AMUSEMENT FOR FELLOW

CABLE CAR PASSENGERS. Louis Long forty-six years old of No. 342 East Fifty-third-st.; his wife, Rebecca, and eight little Looses started out yesterday for a good time. They went to Fort George, and, after a day of the usual recreation found at such places, boarded a car for

All went well until the car reached One-hundredand-twenty-fifth-st, and Loos demanded transfers, which the conductor declined to issue. Loos was insistent, and threatened the conductor with everything from personal violence to a civil suit for damages. He was vigorously backed by Mrs. Loos and the chorus of juvenile Looses, and they furnished much amusement for the crowd of passengers. Mr. and Mrs. Loos spoke in a German dialect, and that added not a little to the metri-ment of the passengers. The conductor stood it until the One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth-st, curve was rounded, and then, stopping the car, he ordered the turbulent passen gers to get off. "Mitout my transfers?" yelled Mr. Loos.

"Vat? Valk to Fifty-third-st.!" shricked Mrs. "Vat?

Loos off. She clung to her seat with desperation, and when she was out the father was back in his seat. He was put off, and Mrs. Loos got on. Half the children were literally torn from their seats and pushed off, only to get on again while the other half were dispossessed.

This sort of seesaw went on for ten minutes, until there was a blockade of cars half-way up the hill. Several other policemen and employes of the road finally got the troublesome family off the car, and it sped on its way. The father was placed under arrest and taken to the West One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth-st. station, the mother and children following, rending the air with their lamentations.

The father was held on a charge of disorderly conduct, and the mother and children were finally induced to go home. They insisted at first on sharing the father's cell, but this the police would not allow.

NOVEL CURE FOR LOCKJAW.

AN AGED MAN AT BELLEVUE RECOMMENDS RAD-ICAL TREATMENT.

If Superintendent William B. O'Rourke and Night Captain McHale, of Bellevue Hospital, had been willing last night they might have heard all about a "sure cure for tetanus, or lockjaw." William McChesney, a gray haired, venerable looking old man of seventy years, who says he is the proprietor of the Vendome Hotel, Asbury Park, called up Superintedent O'Rourke over the long distance telephone a few days ago, and informed the Superintendent that he had a cure for lockjaw, and would bring it down as soon as he could get away from his hotel for a few hours. "All right," replied the Superintendent. "Fetch It over, and we'll see."

The cure was "fetched" last night. Before it had been in the hospital long Superintendent O'Rourke sorely regretted his invitation. "I have letters from General Miles, General Brooks, General Wood, General Butler, Dr. Doty Brooks, General Wood, General Butler, Dr. Doty and a score of others," said Mr. McChesney, producing a great bundle of letters, which he proffered as credentials.

"You take your patient and place him in hot water. Make it red hot," he went on. "Then put in a lot of mustard, and let him soak for an hour. Then wrap him up and put him to bed, and if he don't get better, soak him again." Superintendent O'Rourke remembered just then that Mr. McChesney was the same old man who visited the hospital once before and exploited his "cure" for an hour or more, and intimated that the interview was over. Mr. McChesney gathered up his papers and went away, protesting that he had been shamefully received.

THE GUARD AWAITS A DECISION. INTEREST IN THE SUIT TO DETERMINE THE

NEW JERSEY NEWS.

OF THE NATIONAL GUARD. The officers of the disbanded companies of the 1st Regiment, National Guard, of Newark, are awaiting with great interest the result of the suit awaiting with great interest the result of the suit brought by ex-Attorney General John P. Stockton on behalf of officers of the old 2d Regiment (disbanded) to test the legality of the reorganization orders issued by the Governor last spring. They have been assured by good lawyers that the order was in violation of the State Constitution and would be declared of no effect by the courts. The action by the Governor was in consonance with a report by an advisory commission consisting of General Sewell. General Wanser and General Spencer.

It is understood that General Sewell, who was about to depart for Europe, left the changes proposed to the judgment of the other members of the Commission, taking care, however, that the axe should not be used on the Second Brigade, all the companies of which were retained by consolidating the three regiments into two regiments of twelve companies cach. Even this change caused great dissatisfaction.

LEGALITY OF THE REORGANIZATION

dissatisfaction.

In the First Brigade the 2d Regiment was wiped out and four companies were transferred to the 1st to take the places of the four disbanded companies. Two companies were added to the 4th Regiment to replace two disbanded companies. If the Supreme Court declares that the reorganization order was illegal the National Guard will be restored to its old status until the Legislature meets.

NEW METHOD OF ASSESSING BANKS

A LAW PASSED LAST WINTER SAID TO HAVE MADE AN UNINTENTIONAL CHANGE.

Trenton, Aug 6.-The Trenton assessors have made a discovery that real estate owned by banks made a discovery that real estate owned by banks is not subject to taxation. The law passed last winter provided that in taxing bank property only bank stocks shall be assessed. Heretofore the real estate has been assessed against the banks, and allowances made for the same in determining the excess valuation of the bank stock. The objection to the new law is the fact that a large portion of the tax heretofore paid on real estate will now be paid indirectly into other municipalities. An effort will be made next winter to have the Legislature restore the old method of making assessment.
